FINANCING YOUR TCU EDUCATION

How does one measure the value of the investment in a college education? In a particular type of institution? In TCU specifically?

Before you learn how we can assist students and parents finance an education through merit-based awards, financial aid, and alternative payment plans, consider the quality of the investment itself. If you choose the right college, the return in personal fulfillment and professional achievement can be great.

Value

TCU's tuition is several thousand dollars lower than most institutions of comparable quality and selectivity. Our endowment of more than $1 billion allows the University to charge tuition that is significantly lower than the actual cost of a TCU education. Income from the endowment provides about 40% of the cost of an education at TCU. This is one of the many reasons that national publications recognize TCU as one of the nation's best buys in higher education.

Income from the endowment provides about 40% of the cost of an education at TCU.

Advantages

The advantages of a private, selective university with a national reputation are many: small classes taught by full-time faculty, stimulating classmates from across the United States and abroad, and the respect and confidence with which graduate and professional schools and employers will review your academic work.

Quality

Other distinctive aspects of TCU's include:

- A remarkable faculty (84% percent have earned a Ph.D. or terminal degree in their field of study)
- Technologically advanced facilities
- Opportunities for research alongside faculty
- The integration of academic and co-curricular opportunities
- And a beautiful residential campus in the heart of the Fort Worth community

HIGH QUALITY EDUCATION IS AFFORDABLE

We recognize that financing an education is one of the most important investments that a family will undertake. As with all investments, it is essential that parents and students explore all financial alternatives and carefully consider the resources that must be dedicated to educational expenses.

TCU's financial assistance program can best be described as a cooperative partnership. Parents have an obligation to contribute to their children's education to the extent that they are able. The student also shares in this obligation by working, saving and borrowing. When there is a shortfall between TCU's cost and the family's ability to pay, the University will assist the family with managing their educational expenses.

FRESHMAN ACADEMIC SCHOLARSHIP CONSIDERATION

All TCU scholarships are highly competitive and candidates must present the following credentials for consideration:

- Academic achievement in a college-preparatory curriculum
- Excellent grade point average or rank in class (if available)
- Exceptional writing sample (essay)
- Superior academic references
- A significant record of co-curricular and community involvement

Competition for the more prestigious awards (Chancellor's, Deans and Faculty) is far more rigorous and requires a presentation of the very highest academic credentials.

FRESHMAN ACADEMIC SCHOLARSHIPS

Academic scholarship selection at TCU is a competitive process. The Application for Undergraduate Admission also serves as your application for scholarship consideration.

Your completed application must be postmarked no later than February 1.

Freshman scholarship recipients will be notified of their awards within a few weeks of receiving their letter of admission. Renewal of awards is based upon successful completion of at least 24 hours at TCU during each academic year (fall and spring terms).

A TCU cumulative GPA of 3.0 is required at the end of the freshman year; thereafter, a 3.25 cumulative TCU GPA at the end of each spring term is required.

The total value of scholarships listed on the following pages assumes that renewal requirements are met. Award amounts, other than the Chancellor's Scholarship, remain the same for the duration of the award.

TCU rewards outstanding transfer students with academic scholarships. As with all merit-based awards at TCU, family income has no bearing on this competition. Meeting minimum requirements does not ensure selection. The Application for Undergraduate Admission also serves as the application for transfer scholarship consideration.

Transfer students must have their application completed and postmarked by August 1 in order to compete for fall semester scholarships and December 1 for spring semester scholarships. Scholarship renewal is based on the successful completion of at least 24 hours at TCU of letter-grade course work during the academic year (fall and spring terms). A TCU cumulative GPA of 3.25 is required at the conclusion of each spring term. Summer work, at or away from TCU, will not be used for renewal consideration.

Candidates for each of the awards listed above must have a minimum college GPA of 3.25 and at least 27 hours of transferable course work. The amount of the scholarship is determined by the cumulative GPA, total transferable hours, whether enrollment was full- or part-time, strength of curriculum, communication skills, and outside activities.

Students with 60 or more hours may receive scholarship eligibility of six semesters only. Total values listed above assume that renewal requirements are met. Award amounts remain the same for the duration of the award.

PAYMENT OPTIONS

OPTION A – FULL PAYMENT

TCU has a monthly billing cycle. Payment in full for each semester's charges is due no later than the due date specified on the first statement on which the charges for the semester appear.

OPTION B – MONTHLY PAYMENT PLAN

If full payment is not made, a monthly payment plan is available. A minimum payment of 20% of total basic semester charges (tuition, fees, room, meal plan, and insurance) is due with each monthly installment. Students automatically will be enrolled in the TCU Payment Plan if the Total Balance Due is not paid by September 1 (for the fall semester) or February 1 (for the spring semester). There is a charge to participate in the Payment Plan. More detailed information about the payment plan is available from the Office of Financial Services.

Campus Store purchases, library and parking fines, health insurance, health center services and medications, parking permits, copying charges, dining add-on charges and finance charges are billed monthly, and must be paid in full each month.

Students receiving financial aid may participate in the payment plan option. The minimum amount due on the statement should be the total semester amount due less any financial aid awarded (except work-study, which is paid directly to the student during the semester).

A late fee is assessed to all accounts if the minimum amount due is not paid within 10 days of the stated due date. The late fee is 1% of the unpaid amount of the minimum amount due or a minimum of $7.50.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR STUDENT ACCOUNT

Payment deadlines must be met, or you may be denied advance or current registration. The ability to register in subsequent semesters may be denied if your student account is in arrears. Your student account also must be kept current to make residential housing reservations and to make charges to your student account using your TCU identification card. If you have questions regarding your student account, please contact the Office of Financial Services at 817.257.7834.

THINGS TO REMEMBER

- The FAFSA is available online at www.fafsa.ed.gov. You may file the FAFSA beginning October 1 of your senior year. In order to be considered for eligibility-based financial aid, the FAFSA must be filed each year you attend college.
- Have your 2016 federal income tax information completed prior to filing the 2018-2019 FAFSA. You may file the FAFSA using estimated income. Be aware that TCU may request verification of your income after your final tax return is filed and that your award may change if discrepancies are present.
- If your parents are separated or divorced, use only the income of your custodial parent on the FAFSA. If your custodial parent has remarried, then you also must use your step-parent's income.
- TCU cannot guarantee the availability of funding to eligible applicants whose FAFSA data is received by the University after May 1.
- Read all information carefully. It is your responsibility to assure the accurate processing of your application.
- If you withdraw from the University before the 60% point in the enrollment period, you may have to return a prorated portion of the federal aid you received or that TCU received on your behalf. Detailed information about the federal policy on "Return of Title IV Funds" is available in the Office of Scholarships and Student Financial Aid.
- The TCU Undergraduate Studies Bulletin, online at www.catalog.tcu.edu, contains policies on financial aid and scholarships. Acceptance of your scholarship or other financial aid award implies that you have reviewed and accepted the conditions and policies of your awards. Read the sections titled "Finances" and "Financial Aid" carefully.
